The ISLAND of GARNSEY.

The Air of this Iſland is much of the temper and quality of Jerſey, and it is remarkable that in this Iſland there is neither. Toad, Snake, Adder, or any other venomous creature. and Ierſey hath great plenty: it standeth for the moſt part upon a Rock very high in many places from the Sea, never the leſs yͤ Soil is very fruitful in graſs for their Sheep and other Cattel.

The Inhabitants are not soe much given to Tillage, as they of Ierſey, here is a hard stone found which wee call Emenery uſefull to Lapidaris, and Goldſmithes, and several other Trades. In this Iſland there are 10 Pariſhes and 1 Market Towns, here is a good Haven called Sᵗ Peters Port built cloſe by yͤ Peer and caſtle Cornet.

The ISLAND of JERSEY

The two Iſlands of Jerſey and Garnſey being the only remaines of the Dukdom of Normandy Apertaining to the Crown of England .

It is a very delightſome and healthfull Iſland and giveth a pleaſant Aſpect unto ye Seawards

The Soil is very fertile bringing forth store of Corne, and Cattel, but Eſpecially Sheep moſt of them bearing 4 hornes, apiece their wool very fine and white of which ye Inhabitants make theire Stockings. the Natives Speak french though after Corrupt manner.

The people of the Country live pleaſantly as well by the proffits of the Land as by the help of the Sea. here are 12 Pariſhes the Governer is Captain of the souldiery Appointeth Several Officers under him ye Principal of which beareth the Name and title of a Bailiff, that in Civil cauſes hath the Aſſiſtance of 12 Iuerats .

HOLY ISLAND.

This Iſland is called Landisfarne by the River Lied, that is oppoſite to it on the coaſt of Northumberland.

The Air is not very good Either for health or delight by reaſon of its cold Situation, being troubled with Vapours and Foggy miſts that ariſe from the Sea.

The Soil cannot be Rich becauſe it is rocky and full of Stones and unfit for Corn and Tillage.

In this Iſland there was an Epiſcopal see which Aidan the Scot inſtituted called ~~thither~~ to preach the Chriſtian faith to the people of Northumberland being much delighted with the Solatary Situation thereoff as a moſt fit place for retire: But afterwards when the Danes robb'd and Riffled ye Sea coaſts the Epiſcopal See was Tranſlated to Durham.

This Iſland hath only 1 Towne with a Church and a Caſtle, under which there is a commodius Haven defended with a Block-houſe Situated on a hill Towards the South, Eaſt.

FARN ISLAND.

This Iſland lyeth S: E: seven miles from Holy Iſland almoſt two miles from Bambrough Caſtle, on the Weſt and South it beareth upon Northumberland on the S&E side it hath other smaller Iſlands adjoyning to it as Widopens and Staple Iſland and two leſser called the Wambes

The Air is very unwholſome Subject to Dyſenteries and other Deſeaſes by reaſon of miſty fogges that are drawne from the Sea. and is many times troubled with unuſuall tempeſts of Stormy raines.

The Soile not fertile being Incircled with Craggy clifts neither is their any thing in it either for pleaſure or profit. here is no fewel for fire as Wood, Coles, or Turff. the beſt Commodity it yeildeth is Fiſh and Fowle.

In the midle of it their is a Tower or a place of Fortification. the form of this Iſland is round and may be ridden Round in half a day, the length and breadth about 5 Miles the whole Circumference being 15 Miles.
